As CEO of HGC, Mr Wong successfully saw HGC grow into a leading fixed telecommunications services provider. Under his leadership, HGC completed its network rollout and now owns and operates the largest fibre-to-the-building network in Hong Kong.

"With the privatisation of HGCH, we have the opportunity to realise greater operational synergies between our mobile and fixed telecommunications businesses in Hong Kong. In bringing both businesses under Peter's leadership, we are best positioned to do this. I am confident that his deep knowledge and understanding of the Hong Kong market and his passion for business excellence will further enhance our leadership positions with more innovative services for our customers," Mr Lui said.
